LIFE OF PASTEUR

By R. VALLERY-RADOT

The authoritative biography of the great scientist, written by his son-in-law. The author had full access to Pasteur's private papers, and has taken advantage of opportunities which none other possesses.

"It is a great thing that a good life of Pasteur should be written, for there is no man of heart and intelligence who will not take fresh courage and a larger hope of his race from it. And M. Vallery-Radot has written a good life of Pasteur; good in its presentation of the man and his work; good as an animated and exciting story of adventures as surprising and stupendous as those of the conquerors of great nations.

"M. Vallery-Radot has combined the strictest scientific accuracy with absolute clearness and charm. The reader of these pages, even if he begin with no scientific knowledge, will gain a clear understanding of the most complicated of scientific problems, and he will have the dramatic interest in learning of them in the order of their development."—The London Saturday Review.

REMINISCENCES OF SIXTY YEARS IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS

By GEORGE S. BOUTWELL

"It is the record of a long, active and distinguished life," says the New York Sun in the course of a four-column review. "It is long since any book has been published from which so much first-hand history may be gleaned."

George S. Boutwell was Governor of Massachusetts half a century ago, a Representative of that State in Congress during the Civil War and Reconstruction period, Secretary of the Treasury during Grant's first administration, a Senator from Massachusetts during Grant's second term, the counsel for the United States before the Board of International Arbitrators created by a treaty ratified in June, 1880, between the United States and France, and in 1893-94 counsel on the part of Chile to defend that government before the international commission created under a treaty with the United States.

With Photogravure Portrait. 2 Vols. Net, $5.00; prepaid, $5.45.
